The Michigan Association of Planning (MAP) is the ONLY organization in Michigan devoted solely to meeting the educational and advocacy needs of elected and appointed local officials and professional planners, who share a commitment to making informed land use and planning decisions.

Established in 1945, MAP has worked to improve Michigan communities for more than 75 years. MAP members receive planning advocacy, education and information enabling them to improve where we all live, work and play.

- 1 Education and Training
MAP's educational programs are designed to bring both advanced and basic training to elected and appointed local officials. Can't make it to a scheduled training? We'll bring one to your community! With MAP on-site workshops, we send the instructor and training materials to your location at your convenience.
- 2 Michigan Planner Magazine
Every month the Michigan Planner and the Michigan Planner E-dition keep MAP members up-to-date on planning and zoning best practices.
- 3 Publications
MAP produces over a dozen different guidebooks, manuals, and other resources on a variety of topics, including our Planning Commissioner's TOOLKIT and Zoning Board of Appeals TOOLKIT. Check out our webpage for the latest available publications:
www.planningmi.org/books-and-publications
- 4 Member Discounts
MAP members receive valuable discounts on all association workshops, conferences, and educational materials.

- 5 Website
MAP's ever-expanding website, www.planningmi.org, gives you the latest news on MAP legislative initiatives, association events, upcoming educational workshops, job postings, and more.
- 6 AICP CM and MSUE Master Citizen Planner Credits
Most MAP courses qualify for certification maintenance (CM) credits for AICP members and MSU Extension continuing education credits for Master Citizen Planners. Fulfill your continuing education requirements by attending MAP events.
- 7 Sponsorship and Advertising
Opportunities are available to private sector members interested in additional exposure through the website, Michigan Planner and event sponsorships.
- 8 Networking Opportunities
MAP members gather throughout the year for premier educational conferences like Planning Michigan, Spring Institute and many other events that provide valuable networking time. MAP members may become more involved in the association through election to the Board of Directors, volunteering or serving on a committee.

Which membership is right for you?

Individual

Typically held by a local elected or appointed official whose community does not hold a group membership, or a professional planner who does not belong to the American Planning Association (APA). $65

Group

Designed for municipal planning commissions and elected bodies. 12 membership spots allow staff to join, too. $675
Additional members can be included in the group for $50 per person.

Contributing/Sustaining

These upgraded membership categories allow members to contribute additional funding to help MAP forward its mission. Contributing and Sustaining members receive the standard membership benefits plus recognition on the website, at Planning Michigan, and in the Michigan Planner magazine. $40/$140 in addition to an individual membership

Corporate

Provides private companies with recognition as a heightened supporter of the association's activities. All corporate members are acknowledged at MAP events, on the website, and in the Michigan Planner magazine. Full membership benefits for up to 12 members of your company are included. $750

Emerging Planning Professionals

Provides a critical link for recent graduates and new planning professionals to association activities and career resources in the earliest phase of your career. Eligibility is limited to 3 years. $30

Student

Student members receive all of the benefits of an APA and full Michigan Chapter membership, but at no cost. Benefits include discounts at all MAP events, as well as services developed specifically for students like the Student Conference and MAP's Career Building Reception. FREE through APA

Our Mission: MAP exists so that Michigan will consist of healthy, safe, attractive and successful communities built first and foremost on quality community planning.
